MR. The great majority of The value of the stolen articles was set foreigners in the interior are missionaries, but there are already formidable numbers of Europeans connected with the growing mining industry scattered throughout the country. New China will demand police control over these—that is, the abandonment of extra-territoriality outside foreign concessions; and the Yale or Harvard or Cambridge graduate who will probably be departmental chief in the large or more frequented districts will see to it that as strict a control is observed in China as is the case now in Japan." We do not quite gather what Mr. PUTNAM Weale means by all this. In China at the present time the position is much the same as it was in Japan before the abolition of

The Chinese members will system and to bring it into accord with chiefly be students who have returned that of Western nations, Great Britain from their studies in Germany, and the agrees to give every assistance to such proposal is to have a place in Shanghai reform, and she will also be prepared to where they can meet and continue their studies and converse in the German language. The proposed society will later on be affiliated with the Federation in Germany, as there is a large membership of both Chinese and Germans there. The success of the movement seems assured. Mr. Schirmer, Vice-Consul for Germany, and Mr. Wang Chingdao, Bureau of Foreign Affairs, Nanking, are actively interesting themselves in the movement.

> The Consul General for Germany at Hankow, Dr. M. Muller, has received a despatch from General Li-Yuan-hung in response to his complaint that a launch belonging to Messrs. Carlowitz and Co. had been fired on near Yochow. General Li states that the complaint had been referred to the Hunan Government. He had now received a reply from the Governor of that province asking him to convey the Government's regrets to the Consul and stating that an investigation was proceeding. The officer commanding the forces at Yochow had been ordered to ascertain what section of soldiers had been in the junks from which the shooting was done. General Li was also asked to see that proper punishment should b meted out to those responsible.

STRIKE OF WASHERMEN IN HONGKONG.

PROSECUTION BY THE STEAM LAUNDRY.

The washermen of Hongkong have been on strike for a number of days. The men paid on a daily scale are demanding an increase of wages from 60 to 70 cents a day, and those who are paid on a monthly basis are also demanding an increase. The masters are resisting the demands, and the result is that many folks in Hongkong will probably find their stock of clean clothes exhausted before very long,

His Worship-I have looked up the authorities, and I find that under this section I have power to fine them, but it you desire an adjournment, I will adjourn the case to 2.18 to-day for you to argue further.

This adjournment was taken, and in the afternoon his Worship intimated that he was then of opinion that he had no power to fine the men under section 15. and ordered them to pay compensation to the Laundry to the extent of one month's wages ($5 and $4 respectively) and in the alternative 7 days' hard

Mr. D'Almada-With all deference, I submit that your Worship has no power to convict these men in any form. The section gives your Worship what is known as a disciplinary jurisdiction, and nothing else. If your Worship has no power to fine these men, it obviously follows that you cannot imprison them.

His Worship-Supposing they don't pay the compensation. How am I to force them to do so, except by the alternative, imprisonment?

Mr. D'Almada-Your Worship can enforce the compensation by distress only men will be affected and the whole trade under the Magistrate's Order. I cannot have the alternative recorded against my clients. It is a serious thing to them. BEFORE THE CHIEF JUSTICE (HON. MR. REES-DAVIES).

CHARGED OF KIDNAPING. Only two cases were listed, both being charges of kidnapping.

In the first case, the Attorney-General charged four Chinese with kidnapping a child aged eight years, at Yaumati, on April 20th. A second charge, of attempting to sell the child on the two following days, was preferred against the prisoners, who pleaded not guilty to both counts. following jury was empanelled:-F. M. Hurley (foreman), C. Stafford, C. O. Müller, P. Stujfbergen, M. Gourgey, C. H. W. Kew, and J. Lysaught.

The evidence went to slow that the father of the boy last saw his son at his residence in the country. The boy went out of the house, and did not return. He next saw the boy at Yaumati station. The boy stated that three of the prisoners took him to Hongkong, one of them promising to take him home next day. He was given some tea, and became giddy. A boarding house-rinner-deposedthat he saw three of the prisoners in Canton Road, Yaumati. One of them offered to sell the boy to him. He asked if the child had any parents, and was told he had not. One of the prisoners claimed to be the elder brother of the boy. Fearing the boy had been kidnapped witness did not close with them.

All four prisoners were convicted on both counts. The first prisoner claimed that he and the second prisoner were alone responsible. Prisoners were each sentenced to five years' hard labour, and fourteen strokes of the birch, his Lordship remarking that the offence was unfortunately too common in the Colony, and that the Judges of the Court had made up their minds to do all they could to put an end to it.

A Chinese was charged with kid. napping a girl, aged five years, a Yaumati, on April 29th, and with attempting to sell her. The jury was the. same as in the previous case

The evidence was to the effect that the father of the child went fishing on April 29th, and when he came back three days later he missed her. A woman living at Yaumati stated that she went to 260, Reclamation Street on April 29th to remain pigeon-holed. -- ED.] obtain some medicine, and when there the prisoner offered the girl to her for $80. Hougkong, 20th May, 1912. DEAR SIR, -- The shameful condition of the harbour of Macao really requires republic? some comments.

these houses forms the chief revenue of the Colony.

The Government of Macao, Portugueselike, has been talking much about improving the harbour, but years have been. allowed to clapse before the present idea of dredging a canal through for steamers to pass into the inner harbour took shape. But this work even leaves much to be desired.

The present state of affairs, that is, when excursionists are forced to remain in the steamers for hours at the bar, owing to their having been stuck in the mud, can only have one effect, which is to make people stop making excursions to Macao. But the most surprising point is that skippers are fined for using the canal without having been previously warned that it is not yet open to traffic. Since the establishment of the Republic. excepting the improvement in the policing system, nothing can be said to have been done for the improvement of the city.

A man may be a master of theories and have splendid ideas, but may be an absolute failure in practice; what Macao needs now is a practical man as Covernor and not a theorizer. - Yours faithfully,

[What Macao chiefly needs is the money to give effect to improvement schemes which have, owing to lack of funds, to

Well, Doctor, to change the subject would like, if you don't mind, to have some of your views with regard to the adoption of Socialism by China. I suppose you consider that the transition to Socialism should be fairly easy in China because in many places a form of communism survives, especially in the villages?

The best-known of the whole batch is Mr. Goe, the ex-American citizen who started the revolution here, but the most notorious blackmailer was a man named Tan. For years he had been an ardent as revolutionary, and he early took a pro-Swatow, when Messrs. Goe and Chang were fighting for the supremacy. To this What about the nationalisation of period most of Swatow's subsequent troubles can be traced, and it was at - this time that Tan took up an independent leadership to which he had been Chinese have not money enough to develop appointed by bimself. Blackmailing was his speciality, and it is said that, by sheer terrorism, he extorted some Tls. 200,000 in this way from wealthy merchants. He also seized the salt likin, stations, and had a seal (" as large as a peck measure," the charge against him says) made for himself as Salt Officer. Canton repeatedly ordered-him to vacate his self-appointed offices, but he took no notice of these commands. Other charges against him were that he had issued $500,000 of forged better results. It is better to have free paper money, and that he was working competition rather than monopoly, and with and for the Triad Society. When when trusts are developed -- if they do - Woo came up, he was given a scaled then we can take them over. The State at warrant to do what was necessary with the beginning cannot manage these things | Tan, and also with another blackmailer

Both these men are said to have been hand-in-glove with Lim, and report has it that their correspondence shows that they induced him to come here in the first place. Woo could do nothing until Lim was out of the way, but once that desirable result was consummated he did not let the grass grow under his feet. The soldiers under Tan and Kho were fow in number: Woo's first step was to WATCHMAKERS, send presents of meat and wine to them, so as to full their leaders into a false security. Then, on Sunday morning early, he sent detachments of soldiers to surround their houses and arrest them. When the soldiers arrived, Tan and Kho were still in bed, so the seizure was effected without difficulty, though Tan produced a revolver and wounded one of the soldiers in the foot. The two pri soners were then brought before Woo. who dealt summary justice. He showed them the Canton warrant and the charges against them, and then ordered them to be led forth and shot.

FRUITS OF THE EXECUTIONS. The shooting of these two ruffians was the signal for general rejoicings in Swaton-the celebrations, indeed, seemed to he quite as enthusiastic as were those in honour of the establishment of the Republic. Crackers and feasting were the order of the day, and there could be no doubt as to the genuineness of the relief felt at the removal of these two

The executions had good effects in other directions too. The various petty leaders realized that they had now no longer a Tan Hong O (the former "Peace Commissioner") to deal with, but a man who was prepared to go to all lengths, and each began to wonder whether he might not be the next victim. Goe, the pioneer of the revolution in Swatow, sent round to Woo the same night, swearing to be loyal to him, and promising to leave the town quickly and also to disband his troops. More to the point, he sent in all the rifles and ammunition belonging to his men. In consideration of this, he has been allowed to keep his head on his shoulders. One or two other men (including the late commander of the "Commercial Volunteers") who had gone to Chaochow, also telegraphed off in great haste to the Governor at Canton, resigning their self-assumed offices and dignities, and promising to disband their forces. The figures for the and weaken the revolutionary movement by involving these two in combat, by which means he hoped to appeare his master's manes.

As a result of this strong action of Woo's, Swatow is now enjoying a state of peace and quietness that it has not known for many a long month, and all business is going on normally. Woo himself has undoubtedly enhanced his position here and gained much kudos byhaving got rid of all his rivals without the Scandinavian Kingdoms, Belgium, striking a blow, and Swatow has every Holland, Portugal, etc., making up the reason to be grateful to him.
